No worries. I think my last email should remove any doubt about where this is coming from. He may be scared of me, but I think he's more scared of Aeli.

I think that should sort things out. Thanks a lot for sorting it out. :-)

I will suggest that he come see me. I can actually blame Aeli as she did ask me what was going on with the course and I said you were teaching Micro and he Macro and clearly that hasn't been the case until now.

Absolutely true!!! It has been a big waste of time and that is why I reluctantly brought the problem to you. Once I mentioned your name last evening, Xuxin fell in line quite fast. But, it has been a big of a waste of time for you and me.

Plus, the students also got very confused about why there were two lecturers for the course. I will of course sort that out. I will put up a clear plan for the rest of term before the start of the next lecture to make things clear.

I see. The problem is that it's a waste of your time and his for you both to teach both terms. The whole point of breaking this up is to give you both more time for research. Surely that makes sense to him?

I think Xuxin is slightly protective of the course and is slowly coming around to letting me redesign the course.

I must also add that he has also been very helpful at a personal level, so I think it should be OK.

Also he definitely doesn't need to mentor you. You have about 12x as much teaching experience as he does. :P

Hi Aniket

That's fine. I really just don't see why you guys should waste your time and effort alternating! It's madness and messes with your schedule.

Best wishes

Hi D'Maris,

I had a chat with Xuxin and explained what you said. We have decided that I am going to do Micro this term and he is going to do Macro next term. Xuxin also said that he would talk to you about it.

Best wishes,
Aniket
